Headline:
Bright start, then cloud and snow spreading northeast Windy.

Today:
A bright, breezy start but cloud increasing this morning. Outbreaks of mainly light snow and coastal rain or sleet spread northeast from late morning, with a risk of freezing rain giving some icy surfaces. Strong southeasterly winds with coastal gales. Maximum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Tonight:
Some clear spells, especially Lanarkshire and around Glasgow, but generally a cloudy night with occasional mainly light snow, or perhaps some freezing rain. Occasionally strong southeasterly winds with coastal gales. Minimum temperature -2 deg C (28 deg F).

Sunday:
Cloudy with outbreaks of snow, coastal sleet and rain, and perhaps freezing rain giving some icy conditions, through the morning. The precipitation turns increasingly to rain in the afternoon. Windy. Maximum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Rather cloudy through into mid-week with outbreaks of rain or showers. Much milder than recently with a significant thaw of lying snow and generally lighter winds than over the weekend.
